

PRESIDENCY
Candidate from far-right in the running in France
Nation+World » A12

LOVE STORIES
Romance novelists are changing the boy-meets-girl formula » Spotlight

Spend Less Time Behind the Wheel!

Download our FREE Mobile Phone App

Now with SIGNALERT

TODAY H: 60 L: 43
MON. H: 56 L: 49
TUE. H: 61 L: 47

See the full weather forecast » PAGE A16

IMMIGRATION

Travel ban on hold, but appeal filed

Trump mocks 'so-called judge' who has temporarily blocked his order

By Eric Tucker
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON » The government on Saturday suspended enforcement of President Donald Trump's refugee and immigration ban and filed notice it would appeal a judge's order, plunging the new administration into a crisis that has challenged Trump's authority — and ability to fulfill campaign promises.

The stand-down, a day after a federal judge in Washington state temporarily blocked the ban, marked an extraordinary setback for the White House. Only a week ago, the president had acted to suspend America's refugee program and halt immigration to the U.S. from seven Muslim-parily blocked the ban, marked an extraordinary setback for the White House. Only a week ago, the president had acted to suspend America's refugee program and halt immigration to the U.S. from seven Muslim-

BAN » PAGE 9

Trump supporters gather at the Make America Safe Again Rally at LAX on Saturday.

SEE STORY PAGE A4
ED CRISOSTOMO STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

NEW DAWN IN INGLEWOOD

In four short years, Super Bowl LV will be played in the L.A. suburb, bringing hordes of football fans, millions of dollars in spending and almighty hype

COMPARING SUPER BOWL HOSTS

SANTA CLARA Super Bowl L (2016)	INGLEWOOD Super Bowl LV (2021)
Population 118,830	Population 111,905
City general fund $201.4M	City general fund $80M
Stadium contribution to general fund $9.5M	Stadium contribution to general fund $18M*

*Projected addition to the 2019-2020 general fund. The city anticipates an additional $24 million bump within seven years

"It doesn't sound real. I wouldn't think they would bring it here. It will bring more people to visit Inglewood instead of just Hollywood."

— Resident Ketana Yarber

PAUL PENZELLA — SCNG

It's a game changer, and the Los Angeles region has a lot to do to be ready by 2021

By Sandy Mazza
amazza@scng.com, @sandymazza on Twitter

Today the streets of Texas' cosmopolitan coastal boomtown of Houston will be lined with limos en route to Super Bowl LI.

While 100 million people around the world watch, talented upstart Matt Ryan will try to take down future Hall of Famer Tom Brady. At halftime, Lady Gaga will belt out her best-sellers amid million-dollar pyrotechnics. And free-sending fans will fling hundreds of millions of dollars all over town.

Meanwhile, in the heart of Inglewood, crews will take a day off from hollowing out a mammoth pit east of Prairie Avenue's aging, low-slung

INGLEWOOD » PAGE 6

It's Super Bowl Sunday at last, and Patriots, Falcons matchup promises us a rollicking ride

Finally, the biggest day in North American sports has arrived.

The teams are in place. The commercials have been shot, edited and placed securely in the can. A bazillion cameras are in place at NRG Stadium in Houston, and across America the beer and wine are chilling, the chips and dips all laid out and party RSVPs signed, sealed and delivered. Super Bowl LI is upon us.

And fret not, Los Angeles. Yes, it's been 33 years since one of our teams actually played in the Big Game. But progress is being made. Now that the Rams

BONSIGNORE » PAGE 6

Vincent Bonsignore
Columnist

CALIFORNIA

Millennial heroin use fuels surge in ER trips

Prescription painkiller abusers often turning to cheaper street drug

By Susan Abram
sabram@scng.com
@sabramLA on Twitter

California's millennials continue to flood hospital emergency departments because of heroin, a trend that has increased steadily statewide and in Los Angeles and Orange counties over the past five years, according to the latest figures.

The state data released last week show that in the first three months of 2016, 412 adults age 20 to 29 went to emergency departments due to heroin. That's double the number for the same time period in 2012.

Overall, emergency department visits among heroin users of all ages increased, but the sharpest was among the state's young adults. About 1,500 emergency department visits by California's millennials poisoned by heroin were logged in 2015 compared with fewer than 1,000 in 2012.

Emergency responders, those who work in recovery programs, and parents of children addicted to heroin say the figures are unsurprising given the increase in prescription painkiller abuse that likely has led more young people to use heroin.

"One of the unintended consequences of this prescription drug epidemic has been the increase in

HEROIN » PAGE 7

SUPREME COURT

Pence vows to get Gorsuch approved

Vice president pledges that the nominee for nation's highest court will be confirmed "one way or the other." PAGE A12

DOUG MCINTYRE

Hits just keep coming during the Trump era

Our columnist reflects on hysteria in an epic time, predicting some stormy days ahead. PAGE A3

Can You Guess The 4 Digestive Destroyers You Need to Avoid?

Doctor reveals the 4 things in your home that could be causing your fatigue, bloating, abdominal pain, and weight gain.

#3 Will Surprise You.....

Got to: www.GutKiller2023.com